Marooned in Rockies

Snow Storm Traps Scores of Hunters

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. (UP)—High drifts and blinding snow yesterday thwarted attempts to rescue scores—possibly hundreds—of hunters marooned in the Rocky Mountains south of here.

A huge bulldozer which started to plow into the elk hunting area of the Gravelly mountains in the Tobacco Root range inched ahead slowly. But shifting drifts which piled across the road like sand dunes doubled its work.

Meanwhile, a storm that buffeted the mountains since Saturday afternoon grew more severe by the hour at lower elevations and its effect in the high mountain ranges could only be guessed.

Roy Kilaon, Alder, Mont., who operated the lone bulldozer chewing into the high snows reported he had made only a few miles progress.

MAY TAKE DAYS
Even if he does reach the hunters, it may take days to get to all of them. They are scattered for many miles along the high mountain region.

In the Great Falls, Mont., forecasting centre, weather bureau observers said the "snowing and blowing" would ease gradually today and that "working conditions for road opening will be better."

But a forecaster remarked: "Wednesday will have to be it. There's another storm coming in from the Pacific coast."

The men went into the area at the opening of the special elk hunting season last Friday and Saturday, when Indian summer weather prevailed around Montana.

BELOW ZERO

It is doubtful if they were prepared for the temperatures and snow they will have to face. A special forecast for the region said temperatures in the higher regions of the Gravelly range and around the Cherry lakes could get as low as 15 to 20 degrees below zero.

It was impossible to estimate the number of hunters in the area. No one could tell. Hundreds went into the area during the week-end. Some of them got out in time. Others have not yet been rescued.

Sister Tells Court:

Father Beat Mother; Daughter Shot Him

BRANDON (CP)—The mother of a 13-year-old girl on trial for the slaying of her father testified Tuesday that her husband told her he "could kill me with his bare hands if he wanted to."

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, 41, was testifying in the court of Queen's bench trial of her daughter, Helen May Jackson. The slaying occurred at the family's farm near Wawanesa last Feb. 24.

Mrs. Jackson said she had been subjected to brutal treatment for two weeks preceding the slaying. On the night of Feb. 24 her husband came home intoxicated.

"We were watching for him out the window that night, hoping that he would not come home drunk," she said. "But when I saw him come into the yard I knew he was drunk, or he would have had the zipper on his windbreaker done up as it was very cold."

She said her husband began arguing as soon as he entered the house.

"He hit me and knocked me down. He was on top of me. I was trying to get up but he kept on and I couldn't. I tried to tell him I didn't have to take that, that there was a law to help me. He got up and then he just told down. Then I saw Helen in the kitchen door with a gun."

Eleven-year-old Patricia Jackson said she saw her parents fighting and her sister come into the room with a gun.

"She shot dad," the youngster said.

The trial is continuing.

Big Plane Torn to Pieces

U.S. Airliner Explodes Like Skyrocket Carries All 44 Aboard to Deaths

'I Tried To Help But All Were Dead'

(One of the eye-witnesses to the crash was Conrad Hopp, Jr., 47, a farmer who lives immediately adjacent to the field where the crash occurred. This is his account of what occurred.)

BY CONRAD HOPP, JR.

LONGMONT, Colo. (UP)—The first thing I heard was a big explosion. It sounded like a bomb.

I ran out of the house and saw a big ball of fire and thought it was going to land behind my cattle corral.

I called back into the house and told my wife to call the police and ambulances. About that time I heard another explosion. The plane was still up in the air about half mile away. It was on fire.

CALLED POLICE

I ran in—my wife was talking on the phone and she was getting awful nervous. I asked her to let me use the phone. So I got the ambulance and the police lined up and told them where to come and about that time my son (Conrad Dale, 18) came in and told me parts of the plane were in the field right behind my cattle corral.

I went out with my two oldest boys in the truck and drove around the ploughed field and found several bodies.

They weren't mangled at all. I went on over then with the fire department and by that time the ambulances had arrived. I took the truck and drove over there to show them the bodies. Then we began to find those that were mangled.

HORRIBLE

I've never seen anything like this before. It was horrible.

We found the body of a woman in a straw hat with her shoes sticking out. She didn't have any clothes on.

We found one small child who appeared about 14 years old.

I don't think they had a prayer of a chance.

I just drove around the field trying to find someone who needed help, but everyone I came to was dead.

Argentine Strike Banned

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentina's powerful General Confederation of Labor Tuesday night bowed before the six-week-old government of President Eduardo Lonardi and called off its threatened general strike.

As the midnight deadline for the strike neared, the government issued a communique banning public meetings without police permit and guaranteeing the right to work.

The labor confederation, one of the bulwarks of ex-president Juan Peron's power, decided to call off the strike following a meeting of confederation leaders with representatives of member trade unions.

The meeting was held soon after a country-wide broadcast by Labor Minister Cerruti Costa, which did not mention the strike by name, but made it clear Lonardi's regime was taking up the confederation challenge.

Just before Costa went on the air, security director Col. Tomas Daitan issued the communique banning meetings and guaranteeing the right to work for non-strikers.

The confederation had decided to call the strike on the ground that the Lonardi government had failed to abide by an agreement permitting the confederation to continue in operation if it stayed out of politics.

Call for Unity

East German Offer Thought Propaganda

GENEVA (AP)—An East German delegation proposed to the Big Four foreign ministers Tuesday that talks between East and West Germany be held soon to prepare for free elections to unify a neutralized Germany.

Western diplomats viewed the proposal, backed by the Soviet Union, as nothing more than a new propaganda bid.

This view was reinforced by reports from a special briefing given by the entire Communist press here by a Soviet spokesman who said "there will be no German reunification" at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

The East German proposal was filed by its observer delegation with their conference secretariat while the foreign ministers took a one-day recess. It appeared aimed at influencing German national opinion, and Western quarters said that, as it stands, it is certain to be rejected.

The full text of the 24-page proposal is not to be released until today but, in substance, it calls for bringing East and West German parliaments together, ignoring the Bonn government's adamant refusal to talk to its Communist rivals.

"He hit me and knocked me down. He was on top of me. I was trying to get up but he kept on and I couldn't. I tried to tell him I didn't have to take that, that there was a law to help me. He got up and then he just told down. Then I saw Helen in the kitchen door with a gun."

Eleven-year-old Patricia Jackson said she saw her parents fighting and her sister come into the room with a gun.

"She shot dad," the youngster said.

The trial is continuing.

Police Remove Millionaire

Grim-faced police carry the body of millionaire sportsman William Woodward, Jr. from his Oyster Bay, Long Island, estate, after he was shot to death early Sunday by his wife, Ann, who said she mistook him for a prowler.

Supports Wife's Story

Prowler Stalked Rich Estate Where Fatal Shot Was Fired

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (UP)—A prowler admitted Tuesday he stalked the William G. Woodward, Jr., estate with a loaded shotgun and broke into the family's property twice before Mrs. Woodward shot her millionaire sportsman husband to death, mistaking him for an intruder.

Paul Wirths, 22, a homeless German refugee, was arrested for illegal possession of the gun and then admitted that he had broken into several exclusive Oyster Bay homes, including that of the Woodwards.

Stuyvesant Pinnell, Nassau county detective chief, said Wirths supported Mrs. Ann Woodward's story that a prowler had broken into the Woodward bungalow and garage.

Wirths said he invaded the Woodward grounds on both Wednesday and Friday nights. Woodward was shot to death early Sunday.

After questioning the man for four hours and 25 minutes, Pinnell took him to the Woodward estate "to account for us his movements on certain occasions." After visiting the property, Pinnell said there was no indication Wirths was there when the shooting took place.

FIRE AT NOISE

Mrs. Woodward, 39-year-old former Kansas farm girl, said she became so alarmed by a barking dog that she seized a loaded shotgun from a chair by her bed early Sunday, walked to a darkened hallway and fired in the direction of a noise.

The shot killed Woodward, 35, as he walked naked toward the door of his bedroom across the hall from his wife's room.

Wirths told police Tuesday that on the occasions he prowled around the Woodward home, he never heard the family's French poodle, Sloppy, bark.

Pinnell told newsmen after three days of investigating the shooting that there still were "quite a few people to question who might tell us anything they dovey" to her.

Mrs. Woodward, blonde, blue-eyed former radio soap opera star, model and chorus girl, was reported in improved condition in Doctors' Hospital in New York City. She was taken there in a state of shock and hysteria Sunday a few hours after her husband was killed.

Woodward, 35-year-old owner of the great race horse, Nashua, was killed shortly after he and his wife returned home from a party for the Duchess of Windsor.

High society guests at the party were questioned by police and reported there had been no apparent trouble between the Woodwards during the evening.

A maid said they seemed "lovely" in mind.

LONGMONT, Colo. (CP)—A United Airlines DC-6B crashed on the Colorado flatlands Tuesday night killing all 44 persons aboard. As far as could be learned, there were no Canadians aboard.

A passenger list issued by the airline originally listed two of the passengers as from Vancouver, B.C., but the airline later announced that the couple, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Herman, were from Vancouver, Wash.

However, the revised list still did not include the home addresses of all passengers.

SECOND IN AREA

It was the second United Airlines crash in the area within a month.

The DC-6B plane was demolished and witnesses said the largest piece was no larger than an automobile body.

"There was nothing left to be done except cover up the bodies," said one of the first persons on the scene.

On Oct. 6 a United Air Lines crash killed 66 persons in the worst commercial air line disaster in U.S. history. The plane smashed into Medicine Bow peak near Laramie, Wyo.

Tuesday night's crash was of flight 629, en route from Denver to Seattle. The plane left Denver at 6:52 p.m. MST and crashed about 13 minutes later 40 miles north of Denver.

There had been snow flurries during the day but the air had cleared at nightfall.

A United spokesman said the plane was flying on the normal course north to Cheyenne before heading west for a stop at Portland.

Jim Matlack, co-publisher of the Longmont Times-Call and one of the first on the scene, said "there was not a sign of life."

"It was a terrible wreckage—bodies were just scattered all over. It took me just a few minutes to count nine bodies."

Matlack said that a farmer, Jake Heil, on whose land the plane crashed, said there was "a sort of explosion."

Heil told Matlack: "We ran outside and it looked to us like a skyrocket. There was another explosion."

DID NOT BURN

Matlack said, however, that there was no indication that the plane had burned.

The flight had originated in New York at noon and had made a stop in Chicago before landing in Denver. It left Denver 22 minutes late, headed for Portland and Seattle.

Bob Robbins, a Loveland florist, said he was driving south toward Denver shortly before 7 p.m. when he saw a plane, then a blinding flash and a loud crash.

Bernie Fowler of the Longmont Times-Call, who talked with Robbins, said the plane continued to burn two hours after the crash.

Sgt. Bill Horsman of the Colorado patrol said he received word from the crash scene that "there just couldn't be any survivors. The wreckage is scattered over a wide area and the wreckage burned."

Coffin Case To Be Argued

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec is going to contest the legality of the federal government's action in the case of convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin, Solicitor-General Antoine Rivard said Tuesday.

Mr. Rivard said the province will "question the legality" of the federal government's order-in-council referring the case of the 44-year-old Gaspé prospector to the Supreme Court of Canada for a "recommendation."

Beyond Gaza Strip

Suicide Squad Trio Gunned to Death

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli Army spokesman said three Arab members of an Egyptian-trained suicide squad were killed Tuesday in an exchange of gunfire with an Israeli Army unit 15 miles east of the southern section of the Gaza strip.

He said the suicide squad was identified with a sabotage organization which Israel blamed for a number of border violations in August and September. He said the three men were wearing day-eyes—suicide squad uniforms, carried Egyptian identification cards and were armed with 500 guns.

It was the latest of a series of Israeli charges. Earlier the spokesman said an Egyptian infantry platoon attacked an Israeli patrol in the Kissufin area east of Gaza Monday night but was repulsed.

Rats Plague Royal City

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Residents here have been warned by health committee chairman Alderman Maude Corrigan to protect their homes from rats.

She told city council all parts of the city are overrun with rats and said the situation would get worse if left unchecked.

Peter Townsend's 'Lips Will Remain Sealed'

LONDON, Wednesday (UP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend, who lost out to Princess Margaret's sense of duty, has tried bravely to give the impression that he was not upset.

Newsmen who finally managed to get a few words from the divorced war hero asked him whether he was upset.

He smiled broadly and said "Do I look like that?"

When asked about Margaret he replied, "Now! Now! I cannot answer—you cannot expect me to do that."

But he willingly and smilingly discussed other matters with newsmen as he left a children's party at Eridge Castle in Sussex. "I shall be staying in Sussex at least until Friday," Townsend told reporters. "After that I'm not certain, but I shall be returning very shortly to Brussels."

He denied rumors that he might quit his air attaché post in the Belgian capital from which he is on leave ending next Monday.

The London Daily Mail said it understood that Townsend's "lips will remain sealed" about Margaret and he "will never accept any of the big offers reported to have been made from America for his life story."

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, a divorced man himself, yesterday sidestepped

growing controversy over Margaret's choice of duty over love for the airman by saying the government was considering alterations to the royal marriage law.

The Princess, herself, in seclusion, was reported considering a trip, possibly to the United States, next year. She already has an invitation from Mayor Robert F. Wagner to visit New York.

To the question by M. P. Marcus Lipton asking whether the government intended to amend the act of 1772, Eden replied: "I have had this possibility very much in mind."

Eden's statement was taken as a vote

of confidence in Margaret's future matrimonial judgment.

Newspapers were as badly split over the petite Princess's choice as they were during her anguished days of indecision. The Manchester Guardian blithely referred to the fact that Eden, divorced, is a man "who appoints bishops and archbishops," who opposed the romance.

But whatever Margaret felt after her historic 115-word announcement was shielded by the walls of Clarence House, her residence.

A crowd of 500, many in tears, stood outside Clarence House.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

FOUR thousand dollars in cash was stolen from a British Columbia Telephone Co. office safe in Victoria last June. At least one man was questioned, but nothing could be proved.

Nobody knows of the theft except a few hundred telephone company employees, policemen and other citizens. It has been kept quiet. Stale news now, but we pass it along.

Would a ban on the sale of firecrackers really check Halloween hooligans? It might help. Deprived of firecrackers, however, some of them might devise more harmful kinds of mischief, like the time a bunch of us made a stink bomb and put it in the teacher's house... ops! I started out talking about Halloween hooligans, and now I'm talking about myself. Mustn't let that happen again.

However, Halloween is getting out of hand. There is room for a festival when young people can shed inhibitions and cut loose with some mildly anti-social behavior. Society imposes heavy restraints on the young. They should be allowed one night to thumb their noses at the rules, while remaining within the borders of decency.

Unfortunately, some of them have forgotten what decency is—if they ever knew.

Several measures might be taken: a large vigilante force; prompt arrest and punishment of bad offenders. Real vandals could be fined and also drafted into a work party to repair the damage. Householders might stand guard with hoses, ready to drench anyone they saw doing serious harm to their property.

Teenagers might be given more to do on Halloween. How about an outdoor party at which they were encouraged to burn down a large cardboard building made ready for the occasion, and dance around the flames? It might be a replica of a stockaded fort, or a paper-mache slum tenement.

Or else we could have an early curfew—particularly for children over 25.

Cheeriest Halloween bonfire I know was that of a Langford resident who recently built himself indoor plumbing. He burned up the outhouse.

Long prison sentences are no cure for crime. So say the editors of Transition, that neat and lively magazine published by the inmates of the B.C. Penitentiary. They should know what they are talking about.

In support of this view, the magazine quotes author Earle Stanley Gardner and the late Clarence Darrow, famed criminal lawyer, who both said that society should pay less attention to revenge and punishment and more attention to cure.

In the same issue is a story about Clyde Lamb, a one-time armed robber who made good as a cartoonist while in Indiana penitentiary. Thanks to the help of a newspaper editor, he gained parole. Now he is free and prosperous. His cartoons appear in national magazines, and his syndicated comic strip, "Herman" in scores of newspapers.

Signs of strain are apparent in Transition. Editor Ken Morris announces that he is quitting because he and the management don't see eye to eye on our prison system. Morris says "our penology is a hopeless mess." However, the magazine goes on. I could tell you more about Transition, but here's a better idea: Buy it yourself. It costs $1 a year.

How close can a hockey game get? Somebody goofed on the teletype machine, and sent the following message: "WHL final Victoria 14, Seattle 1/2."

Be Ruthless For Beauty

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I have met quite a few women in my time who were constitutionally unable to throw anything out. No matter how useless an article, nor how outmoded a garment, they are saved, tucked away in trunks or attics against the day when they might just come in useful.

We gardeners have more than a little of this same packrat instinct in us, and many is the time I have had to do battle with myself, after digging up a weedy, inferior perennial, before I could bring myself to leave it over the back fence.

BIG ADVANCES

Our gardens could be so much more attractive if we were a bit more ruthless—if we could steel ourselves to discard a lot of the older varieties of plants and replace them with the modern products of the plant breeder's magic touch. It is hard to realize what remarkable advances have taken place until you see the old and the new side by side.

Take the case, for instance, of

U.S. Officer Convicted Of Misconduct

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Major Ronald E. Alley, 33-year-old artillery officer from Bar Harbor, Me., Tuesday was convicted of misconduct while a prisoner of the Chinese Communists in Korea. Eight fellow officers comprising a general court martial found him guilty of all except a few paragraphs and phrases in the four pages of charges the army brought against him.

Sentencing of Alley was postponed until after a separate hearing on extenuating and mitigating circumstances. He faces a possible life sentence.

the Golden Rods. The original Solidago canadensis is still a common occupant of our gardens, although it is a rampant weed which will shoulder the other occupants right out of the perennial border if given half a chance, and the pollen is the bane of every hay-fever sufferer within miles.

BETTER ALL ROUND

You wouldn't give the plant a second look if you could see it alongside one of the modern varieties. Golden Wings, for instance, has much larger and more attractive flower sprays, with no tendency to smother its neighbors, while its pollen seems to be much less conducive to sneezing spells.

It is rather strange, but we have the English plant breeder to thank for creating 1955 models out of this native-Canadian wildflower.

Autumn wouldn't be autumn in the perennial border without the Shasta daisies, and of these, nine gardens out of 10 will still be growing the old reliable Esther Reid.

Esther was quite some pumpkins when she made her debut, but the old girl is getting a bit long in the tooth now, and she doesn't show up so well when you compare her with her grandson, John Murray, who produces masses of big, double blooms, ideal for cutting, from late July onward.

GET POORER

Polyanthus primroses have a nasty habit of backsliding over the years if you keep on just lifting and dividing them every year. The ones with the biggest flowers and the best colors seem to pass quietly out of the picture, while the more vigorous weedy ones multiply and take over.

The trick here is to start a fresh batch from really first-class seed every year, feeding the best ones into your collection. At the same time, a program of rigorous selection should be instituted at flowering time, giving the boot to all the inferior specimens.

Surgeons Examine 'Exorbitant' Fees

CHICAGO (AP)—The American College of Surgeons Tuesday announced the launching of a special study of surgical fees in the United States to determine if they are too high.

A committee of "six or seven distinguished surgeons" will investigate the matter, making a preliminary report about mid-December.

A committee of "six or seven distinguished surgeons" will investigate the matter, making a preliminary report about mid-December.

man of the college's board of regents. He told reporters: "Statements have been made that in many instances exorbitant fees have been charged. We intend to look into this matter, and find out if it is so."

He declined to name the members, saying they could best do their work if their names were not made public.

The College of Surgeons made news several years ago in announcing a campaign against fee splitting, which it defined as a sharing of a fee between a surgeon and a physician who referred the patient to the surgeon, without specific billing for the services each had performed.

DID SOME GOOD "We believe we have made a very healthy dent in that practice," Dr. Ravdin said.

"It is not our function to police American medicine. It is our function to see that our own members do not participate" in practices considered immoral or unethical by the college.

In the fee investigation, the ACS will ask for co-operation or help from other medical groups "if the evidence points in the direction of our needing additional help."

He implied that most of the data the committee will investigate will be complaints already received from patients. The committee would not be able to examine income tax returns of surgeons, or learn much, if anything, about fees by examining hospital records.

Undoubtedly, Mr. Crean said, the Geneva Agreement on Tariffs and Trade had gone a long way in reviving world trade since the war, but in many instances other countries were escaping from its provisions.

"In the last year or so, appreciation of trade as a two-way street has not grown as we would like to see it grow in other countries," he said.

Mr. Crean made these suggestions: With the population increasing rapidly, consideration should be given to whether policy at the federal level should tend to emphasize the export of raw materials or tend to increase manufactured exports and domestic consumption.

Police said Wilson continued driving after the accident but stopped at Head and Lampson after being pursued by Woolcock.

Investigations are continuing.

Outsider Likely Choice As Vancouver Chief

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Leading prospect for the vacant Vancouver police chief job has turned it down, Mayor Fred Hume disclosed Tuesday.

The mayor said "we could not get the man we are looking for. We thought at one stage we had him, but apparently we can't get him now."

City hall sources here suggest that an outsider will be appointed from the six applicants.

Despite strong opposition from Edmonton's Police Chief Melville Anthony, formerly of the RCMP, that he has not asked for the job and does not want it, it is still thought that Anthony may be the commission's choice.

Hume said the commission has several other men in mind but added it would be at least 10 days before any decision was reached.

Mrs. Ernest Runge, the mother, tore off the child's rubber monkey-face mask and ran with her to a neighbor's. Karon was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

The father, a bus driver who was on duty at the time, said asphyxiation was believed the cause of death. An autopsy will be held.

ALEXANDRIA, KY. (AP)—A gay crowd of Halloween pranksters and onlookers was filled with terror Monday night when a teenager perched atop a 70-foot water tower began taking the streets with rifle fire. The costumed youngsters and their elders dived for cover as the 16-year-old boy fired approximately 60 rounds into the streets in 30 minutes. No one was hurt.

Pleas from the boy's mother finally brought the boy down.

They found that the woman's hearing aid was out of order and was making a noise just like a saw biting through wood.

HAMILTON (CP)—A Hamilton man was convicted Tuesday of beating up three women—all dressed in Halloween garb and all weighing more than 180 pounds.

Mladen Wuk, 29, was convicted after all three women took the stand to testify they were punched in the face and kicked in the shins Monday night by the comparatively frail man.

LONDON, Ont. (BUP)—Halloween festivities here led to two shootings, gang warfare, fires, and one of the worst outbreaks of vandalism in 15 years.

Motorcycle enthusiasts fought with soldiers in Dundas street, while at Hyde park and Elderton gangs of youths battled it out.

Police said the two shootings resulted from property owners firing at pranksters.

Ball park bleachers were upended and goal posts torn down. A small frame railway station was burned to the ground.

In the township, fences were torn down and cattle were driven into the roads; a railway car was shoved onto a crossing, and traffic signs were removed.

Pearson Opens India Dam; Monument to Colombo Plan

MASANJORE, India (CP)—L. B. Pearson pressed a button Tuesday and sent water gushing out of the 21 gates of Canada dam to start a huge irrigation project he said was truly "magical" because wheat, harvested by Canadian hands, made it possible and now there will be "a great harvest of rice" for millions of Indians.

The 113-foot-high dam, the first in India to be named after a foreign country, is located in the West Bengal hills, about 180 miles from Calcutta. It is part of a $33,000,000 hydro-electric system planned for the Mayurakshi river. The project will make possible the irrigation of 250,000 acres of land this year, with an ultimate target of 600,000 acres.

Canada supplied wheat worth $15,000,000 to India during the last two years under the Colombo Plan for aiding underdeveloped Asian countries and the proceeds of its sale were used to build up a fund for the dam.

Pearson said at the dedication ceremony that it was a great honor for Canada to have the dam named after her.

"Here indeed is an enduring monument to Indo-Canadian co-operation and friendship," the Canadian external affairs minister said.

The magic of Mayurakshi was a matter for great satisfaction, and magic it was, "when you consider that here the initial investment of Canadian wheat would be transformed into a great harvest of Indian rice year after year."

Jan Ladislav Dussek, Bohemian composer who died in 1812, was an accomplished pianist at age five.

'Major Tragedy'

The resignation of Major H. C. Holmes from the Victoria Town Planning Commission has been received by his fellow commissioners with the deepest regret and sorrow. Major Holmes has been chairman of the commission since its appointment in 1950. During these six years he has provided it with a calibre of leadership which is totally irreplaceable.

For Efficiency

Judging by the calls and questions received there appears to be considerable interest in my suggestions re a municipal manager for Saanich.

First I suggested that Saanich consider the advantages of the council manager system of administration. To do this it might be well to form a representative committee from all sections of the community. The findings could be made public and a plebiscite then held. The people have, as is only right, the final say in a vote.

Saanich, with a budget of $2,000,000 is really big to him or the wise and courageous leader he gave us all. He brought to the task a knowledge of planning principles built from a lifetime's experience. This knowledge he has shared generously with other members of the commission. Coupled with this knowledge has gone an integrity of the highest order and an ardent desire to see our city develop through the years into a town of ordered beauty. Under his many times over in increased leadership the members of the commission have cheerfully given and long-term planning.

This has been the experience of personal sacrifice, in the belief that they were being of service to Victoria.

I may add that in a fairly wide experience of local affairs I have never seen a finer example of civic service than offered by Major Holmes; often under conditions of stress and strain which would have daunted a less valiant heart. To all of us on the planning commission his resignation comes as a severe personal blow.

It is indeed tragic for Victoria that voluntary service and a wealth of experience of this calibre should be lost to the city at a time when it can least afford such loss.

For this the responsibility must be laid fairly and squarely on the shoulders of those few in the present administration who have, for reasons best known to themselves, frustrated and delayed the work of the commission during these past few years.

If there is one lesson this city would be wise to learn from Major Holmes' resignation it is surely this—that there is a point beyond which men of good will cannot be expected to give of their time freely and willingly in the face of continued obstruction to the work they are attempting to accomplish on the city's behalf.

Failure to observe this lesson has now lost the city the services of one of its most selfless citizens. It is a major tragedy that so great a sacrifice is demanded to point home so elementary a lesson.

H. R. STEPHEN,
Vice-Chairman,
Victoria Town Planning Commission.

'Stinking Rowdism'

There should be a law against what has become a heathenish saturnalia though its still called Halloween.

It's medieval in its origin and as seen in Victoria on Monday night still medieval in its manifestations.

In the old days, according to superstition, it was the time when witches, devils and otherimps of earth and air held revel. But only stupid, insensitive, Nazi-minded louts could think that destruction of property and trying to scare people who are unfortunate enough to have to live alone is funny.

A nice thing to have it go out over the CBC news that it was the worst Halloween the police remember in Victoria; capital of the province! That was a choice bit on the noon broadcast! Why should these wretched misbegotten youths be allowed to be a pain in the neck to the police and tax-paying citizens?

We can't expect the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors to become law abiding when we allow these creatures to get away with the stuff they do. It isn't high spirits. It's stinking rowdism. We've tried giving them community parties. They don't want those. Oh no. They prefer to be hoodlums.

Now let's get tough. Do away with Halloween by law.

Its long outlived its beliefs and its uses. If it ever had any.

New Touchdown Record

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Statistics to a lot of sports fans are just so many figures which sometimes make dullish reading but they do have a story to tell more often than not, as evidenced by the fact that more and more clubs are employing statisticians to help get all the story.

Football teams keep figures to show how many shots on goal each of their players gets and who was on the ice when goals were scored, for or against. And baseball clubs sometimes keep so many records that they have to keep statisticians on statistics.

Final statistics for the Western Inter-provincial Football Union tell the story, for instance, of why the B.C. Lions didn't do any better than they did and why Edmonton Eskimos lost only two of 16 games.

Lions didn't do any better because they were shortest on defence and on ball-carrying ability. Eskimos won because they were long on both commodities.

Forward passes may provide most of football's thrills but a team first needs defence and then it needs the ability to move the ball on the ground. If it's going to win, WIFU statistics certainly bear out this old football recipe for success.

Edmonton Eskimos clearly proved themselves the best club over the season but they moved the ball only 1,334 yards in the air, completing only 82 of 220 pass attempts for a modest 35 per cent completion average.

By contrast, Calgary Stampede gained 3,087 yards in completing 196 of 371 passes while B.C. Lions picked up 2,840 air yards with 180 completions in 345 tosses. Yet the Eskimos won five more games than the Lions and Stampede together.

In total offence, there was little to choose between the league champions and the two trailers. Lions gained 4,849 yards and averaged 16.7 first downs per game, the Eskimos gained 4,675 yards and averaged 17.4 first downs, and the Stampede gained 4,397 yards and averaged 15.3 first downs.

The reason for the difference in standings must be somewhere else, and it is. The difference is defence. Eskimos gave up only 117 points, an average of just over seven per game. Stampede gave up 299 points, 18.7 per game, and the Lions found it even harder to stop the opposing attack. They gave up 330 points, an average of 20.6 per game.

This means that Edmonton's defence was so good that the Eskimos needed only to score an average of eight points a game to win while the Stampede and Lions needed about 20.

On the other hand, Edmonton's great running attack made it possible for the Eskimos to get closer to a maximum out of their offence.

Lions outgained the Eskimos by 174 yards over the season but were outscored by 286-211, an average of almost five points per game. The difference was the difference in runners. Eskimos could move the ball when they got close to the goal-line because they had the runners to pack it. The Lions had only the forward pass, which is not often as effective from 20 yards out or less as it is in your own end of the field, where there is more room for receivers to spread out. It would be interesting to know just how many times Lions stalled when they were inside the enemy 20-yard line.

Lions and Stampede can have their Arnie Galiffas and Don Klosternans but until they get some runners such as Normie Kwong, Earl Lindley, Johnny Bright, Rollie Miles and Jackie Parker and some linebackers such as Ted Tully and Kurt Burris, they're not likely to ever get anywhere. Forward passing alone will never win the Grey Cup. Lions and Stampede need a defensive line and a running threat to make their forward passing pay off. Statistics show they had neither this year and the standings show what happened.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Seattle and Vancouver in the WHL tonight and Detroit in the NHL game. Batting average to date: At bat 331, hits 233, percentage .704.

Walcott Steers Clear Of Boxing Bouts, Now

By BOB MYERS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was upstairs in the Hollywood YMCA and two old men were sparring in the ring. One of them was Jersey Joe Walcott.

When an onlooker called "Time," Jersey Joe was puffing a little and sweating a lot from trying to knock off 18 or 20 pounds he has picked up since he retired.

The former heavyweight champion is here to act in a movie about boxing, "The Harder They Fall." He plays a trainer but he wants to look in shape for one brief boxing sequence.

As for the fight game, well, Walcott says he won't even watch a bout any more. They wanted him in the ring at the recent Rocky Marciano-Archie Moore match. Joe stayed at his home in Camden, N.J.

MIGHT GET IDEA

"The way it is," he said, "I'm afraid if I got to watching I'd see something about one of the fighters—some weakness or something—and I might get the idea that I could beat him, that maybe I could make one more fight."

"So, well, I just stay away," Walcott was reminded that Archie Moore had said Joe, in effect, froze when he had Rocky down in the opening round of their first battle. Joe grinned.

"I wonder what Moore was doing when he had Marciano down," he countered.

The last time Walcott was here he fought Joey Maxim. Joe well remembered the match.

JOEY IRKED JOE

"Maxim was the only man I ever got mad at in the ring," he said. "The referee would say 'break' and he'd give you two, three jolts in the chin. Two, three in the stomach. Made me real mad. I guess he knew I'd make me sore."

"Now, guy out of the ring, though," Walcott added.

This is the play that gave Ken Carpenter, Saskatchewan Roughriders halfback, the Western Inter-provincial Football Union scoring title and boosted his record touchdown total. Carpenter (99) rolls through a confused pile-up of Winnipeg defenders as the Roughriders downed the Blue Bombers, 31-13, Saturday night. Referee Don King signals the score and Winnipeg's Tom Casey stands by helplessly as Carpenter collects his 18th touchdown of the season, two more than the former record set by Casey in 1952. The major score also gave Carpenter 90 points for the season, a five-point edge over Bomber quarterback Buddy Leake.

Lions Scouting for '56 Despite Coaching Fix

VANCOUVER (CP)—The job of strengthening the British Columbia Lions for the next Western Inter-provincial Football Union season is going ahead, despite the controversy stirred up by the dismissal of head coach Annis Stukus.

Backfield coach Vic Lindskog is expected to leave within a few days to scout Pacific Coast Conference schools. Later he will take in the southern states and the mid-

Selection of a coach to replace Stukus is dependent on the outcome of a Lions club membership meeting Nov. 14. Lions president Don MacKenzie said Tuesday candidates for the $12,000-a-year post would not be considered until after the meeting.

MacKenzie declined to comment on a report that Greg Kabat, former University of British Columbia coach, had applied for the mentor's position. However, MacKenzie admitted that "several applications" had been received.

Phil Webb, Lions' general manager, said only 2120 club members will be eligible to vote at the Nov. 14 meeting, called to consider the board of directors' action in refusing to renew Stukus' two-year contract.

Webb said there are 176 corporate club members with the equivalent of five memberships each who will not be eligible to vote.

Last night's series, Saskatoon 3 at Winnipeg 4; Vancouver 3 at Edmonton 3; Seattle 3 at New Westminster 3; New games, tonight: Vancouver at Saskatoon, New Westminster at Seattle.

Results of three Western Hockey League games played last night put Seattle Americans into a three-way deadlock for the Western Division lead and Edmonton Flyers out in front in the Eastern Division.

Americans moved up on even footing with Victoria Cougars and Vancouver Canucks by blanking New Westminster Royals, 3-0. Flyers broke a first-place tie with Calgary's idle Stampede by besting the Canucks, 5-3.

In the other game, Winnipeg Warriors edged Saskatoon Quakers, 4-3, to move within a point of escaping the basement in their division.

DOES IT AGAIN
At New Westminster, about 1,500 fans saw goalkeeper Charlie Hodge star again for the Americans, who were outplayed in the first period and much of the second period.

Hodge kept the game a scoreless tie until his mates broke through for the big first goal. It was the first shutout of the season for the brilliant netminder, who now leads the WHL with an average of 2.50 goals allowed per game.

Hodge played brilliantly in making 32 saves, 12 of them in the second period. When the Royal attack had been blunted, rookie Bev Bell got the game's first goal at 14:44 of the second period.

Offie Dorahoy made it 2-0 at 6:37 of the third period and Alex Kuzma wound up the scoring in the last minute.

ESCAPE TIE
Playing their second home game of the season, Warriors delighted 4,843 fans by breaking a 3-3 tie only 65 seconds from time after blowing a 3-1 lead when Quakers scored twice in 33 seconds late in the third period.

Rookie Barry Cullen's second goal of the game broke it up. It came on a slap shot with Saskatoon defenceman Mid Houghton in the penalty box.

Warriors had four forwards and one defenceman out in an all-out attack to break the tie.

Warriors took a 2-0 lead in the first period, gave up a second-period goal, and seemed to be safe when Bill Mosienko scored his first goal of the season at 6:05 of the third period to make it 3-1.

THIS PENALTY WAS ROUGH. An incident which occurred in Australia recently has created a lot of controversy in golfing circles here.

During a professional tournament at Bonnie Doon (Sydney) Frank Phillips, a young Australian assistant, played a trap shot which went over an out-of-bounds fence.

The ball hit a stone on the roadway and it was bouncing back to what eye-witnesses thought was a position near the green, when it was caught by a spectator.

The spectator promptly threw the ball back over the out-of-bounds fence.

The report says that Phillips was penalized two shots.

As Peter Thomson, the British open champion, won the tournament by only two strokes from Phillips, it was clearly a mighty tough break on the player.

Some golfers here think that Phillips ought not to have been penalized and that as the spectator was an agency outside the tournament the ball should have been dropped in play without penalty.

My own view for what it is worth is that the penalty had to be incurred. If the ball had been at rest when it was thrown back by the spectator, then certainly it could have been replaced without penalty, as near to the spot where it lay as possible.

But in this case the ball was not at rest and there could be only speculation where it would have stopped—it might have bounced back again out-of-bounds—and I don't think there is anything in golf rules or recommendations which allows anyone to assume that the ball might have landed in a given spot if it had not suffered interference en route.

CHALLENGE DATE SET. The match between Royal Colwood and a team, selected from the other Victoria clubs has been set for Sunday, Nov. 28. It will be played at Victoria Golf Club with the foursomes starting at 9.30, and the singles in the afternoon.

The match will be eight-a-side, and the Royal Colwood team is out to secure revenge for a narrow two-points defeat in the first challenge match last March.

HOLDERS HARD TO STOP. When a button team really gets rolling it is mighty hard to topple over. Bill Court and George Andrews of Royal Colwood nearly did it to Dr. Bigelow and Hugh Morrison a couple of Sundays ago, when the holders were rather lucky to force a second game.

In the replay on Sunday, the holders were never in serious difficulties, and with Hugh Morrison playing his short game beautifully, an excellent match was won by 3 and 1.

One could not help being a little sympathetic to the Colwood pair, particularly when Morrison holed one green-long putt and followed it up by sinking a couple of chip shots.

This week-end, the buttons scene shifts to the Gorge. Here young Norm Boden, now one of the assistant greenkeepers at the club, teams up with Johnnie Carlow in an effort to remove the buttons from the lapsels of the Oak Bay pair.

Norm recently won the greenkeepers' tournament, and is one of Victoria's more promising youngsters. Johnnie Carlow is the father of a well-known Gorge Vale golfing family.

RESTRICTION REMOVED. The seniors' button contest has taken longer than expected to get rolling, but there should be faster progress now that the sponsors have decided to make the buttons open to all golfers 55 years and over, irrespective of handicap.

Originally the regulations were that one member of the team should have a handicap of under 15 and the other over 15.

It wasn't a popular move, and now that the restriction has been lifted I know of one or two couples who will be in sharp with their entries.

GORGE SEQUENCE ENDED. For the first time in the six years since the interclub trophy was instituted Royal Colwood has beaten Gorge Vale.

Gorge Vale lost the first half of the match at Colwood by 2-18, and in the return at Gorge Vale Sunday, they were beaten again 2-7, giving Colwood a winning aggregate of 49-15.

This is further evidence of the strong team which Colwood has been building up in recent years.

In the top match Bill McCall beat Bobby Fleming for the second week in succession by 3 and 2. Bobby Woods turned the tables on Vic Painter, while the fourball finished all square.

LAURIE NOW CONVALESCENT. I was glad to see Laurie Kerr out and about watching the buttons game on Sunday. He has made a good recovery from his operation, and the Victoria City champion tells me he hopes to be back in harness and fit to play in the Colonist Boxing Day tournament.

Record Bid Postponed

PICTON, Ont. (BUP)—Canada's fastest boat of all time, Miss Supertest II, won't be used to break the world speedboat record until next spring because of engine trouble incurred when setting a Canadian record Monday.

Owner J. Gordon Thompson said the boat hit "something pretty solid" on its third run of a mile at Long Beach near Picton.

The driver, Bill Braden, skinned the boat over the waters at 154.845 miles per hour.

Until the engine trouble developed it was planned to try her again yesterday in an attempt to hit 210 miles per hour, which would be a world record.

HIMSELF!

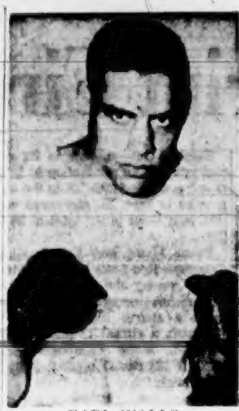

At last—the fabulous redhead himself tells the whole Godfrey story!

"I am sick and tired of the fantastic tales that have been concocted for gullible newspapermen by the press agents of my former associates. I think it is about time that folks heard the true story."

Millions of words, friendly and otherwise, have been written about Godfrey. But this is the first time Arthur Godfrey HIMSELF has told his story. The fabulous redhead tells it all in the style that has become his trademark. He pulls no punches. He tells of his troubles as well as his triumphs. You can start reading the whole fascinating Godfrey story today in The Saturday Evening Post. It's on the newsstands right now. So be sure to get your copy before they're sold out.

Voyles Denies Bomber Offer

HAMILTON, Ont. (BUP)—Hamilton football coach Carl Voyles denied Tuesday that he had received a contract offer from the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the western conference, or any other team including his own.

Voyles added that he wasn't interested in talking contract until after the football season. He said that such rumor stories annoyed him and that as far as he was concerned, Winnipeg coach Al Sherman was doing a good job with the Blue Bombers.

Als Place Seven on Big Four Offensive Team

By WILF GRUSON
TORONTO (CP)—Sam Elcheverry's name Tuesday went down in the record books for the third straight year as the quarterback on the Canadian Press Big Four all-star offensive football team.

The triple-threat star of Montreal Alouettes made a near sweep of the votes for the position, gaining well-deserved recognition for the key role he plays in guiding the "Lads" through and brilliant attack.

The former University of Denver ace was one of seven Montreal players named to the offensive team, the third successive year that five or more Alouettes players have landed places on this mythical squad. The Montreal club also grabbed off four of the positions on the defensive all-star squad, only one less than the number that went to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The football writers, sportscasters and coaches in the four league cities who picked the team for CP placed three players from Toronto Argonauts and one each from Hamilton and Ottawa Rough Riders on the offensive squad. Two Ottawa players and one from Toronto made the grade on the defensive team.

The 25-year-old Elcheverry first earned all-star ranking in 1953, his second season in the Big Four and the first year that CP had selectors pick both offensive and defensive teams.

Only one native Canadian player was chosen on the offensive squad—flying wing Joey Pal of the Alouettes. It was the third straight year that only one Canadian offensive star was picked and the choice this season and last has been Pal.

The defensive team isn't so top heavy with imports. Four Canadians were selected—safety half-back Johnny Fedosoff, guard Eddie Devan, and Pete Neumann, all of Hamilton, and end Doug McNicol of Montreal.

Both teams include one former

American who now is ranked as a non-import because he has been a Canadian citizen. They got every vote for offensive tackle, with Frank Dempsey of Ottawa as the two linebackers on the defensive outfit.

Red O'Quinn of Montreal and Al Pfeiffer of Toronto were runaway selections for the end positions on the offensive team. The guard spots went to Trawick and Bill Albright of Argos.

Kusserow was placed on the offensive halfback line with Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal and Tom Tracy of Ottawa and in the defensive backfield with Hal Patterson of the Alouettes, Avatus Rio de Janeiro's citizens, the Cariocas, read some 25 local newspapers a day.

The former New York Giants Stone of the Rough Riders and lineman was picked with Billy Fedosoff.

Both teams include one former

Asked if he was going to be one of those who try a comeback later on, Walls replied: "I'm not saying I'll never come back. Let's just say I hope I don't ever have to."

Walls' fight record shows a record of 45-36-1, with 33 of them, lost nine and drew one.

At the height of his career, in 1954, two years after he knocked out Vern Escor in Edmonton to win the Canadian title, Walls said he didn't like fighting. "I always wanted to be a lawyer," he said then.

His retirement wiped out a bout against Ewart Folger of South Africa. Walls had signed to meet him in London this month and was scheduled to leave by plane this week.

During his eight-year career, the 190-pound, six-foot 2 1/2-inch boxer has fought 43 bouts. He won 33 of them, lost nine and drew one.

Walls lost his title for two minutes in Toronto March 7 after a fight with James J. Parker of Barrie, Ont. They went the limit in a 12-round title bout and the judges called Parker the winner. They reversed their decision two minutes later and ruled the match a draw.

Walls' last fight was in Toronto against Bill Gillam in June. He won by a decision.

Market Tests

Recent Lows

At New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Traders displayed a growing indifference to the stock market Tuesday, and the prices held mostly steady.

Buying and selling was highly selective. There were no mass movements in principal groups of stocks.

Brokers believe the market currently is facing a test of the low established three weeks ago after the major reaction that came with news of President Eisenhower's illness. In the process, it was pointed out, the market could well experience a marked period of drift without prices registering any great changes.

Papers Press Forward

MONTREAL (CP)—The stock market closed with an improved undertone Tuesday. Trading was light.

Narrow forward progress was noted in the pulp and paper group. Ahead fractionally were Consolidated Paper, St. Lawrence, Macmillan B. & Great Lakes, Utilities, beverages, senior oils and steel displayed a narrowly-mixed pattern. Price movements in these sections were restricted to a half-point or less in the majority of cases. Base metals showed recovery from earlier fractional declines and were mainly unchanged. Banks gained ground.

Hollinger Leads Gains

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market put on a rather lifeless showing Tuesday with none of the major sections moving far and business amounting to a light 4,182,000 shares.

The financial institutions, textiles and miscellaneous issues posted a few more gains than losses, but other industrial groups were mixed or lower.

There was little action in senior base metals. Golden Manitoba added 20 to $3.20.

Hollinger, up 1/2 led improved gains.

Uranium lost ground after a hesitant start. Gunar was off 1/2 and Consolidated Denison 1/2.

Westminster Gains

VANCOUVER—Industrials were in good demand with Westminster "B" a feature at $31. B.C. Forest Products finished strongly at $15.78, while Lucky Lager was up 5 cents at $5.30.

Inland Natural Gas was up a nickel at $4, while Canadian Collieries showed strength at $12.38. Canam at 13.1 was up 6 cents among copper but Pacific Nickel was down 3/4 cents at 29 1/2 cents.

London Steels Ease

LONDON (Reuters)—The London stock market was generally dull following government indications of stricter credit controls.

Nervousness about the Middle East situation and prospective demands for wage increase at home kept buyers away and prices drifted aimlessly.

Government securities were dull with gilt-edged up to one-eighth lower. Some leading industrials showed small gains but the general trend was uncertain.

Babcock and Wilcox and Vickers were firm on engineering. Steel shares were mostly slightly easier.

Fireworks Send Two to Hospital At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Halloween fireworks sent two boys to hospital here marring otherwise uneventful celebrations.

Wayne Turner, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner, 220 Ninth Avenue, lost the end of a thumb and second finger in an explosion of a small "lady-finger" firecracker Sunday evening.

The youngster had placed the explosive in a tiny aluminum tube, expecting it to be propelled from the container when fired. Instead, the container disintegrated as he held it.

Bones were shattered at the tips of his thumb and finger, necessitating amputation of the members behind the nail. Further amputation of the thumb may be necessary.

Willard Betz, 17, was admitted to West Coast General on Halloween for treatment for eye injuries following a firecracker accident. The injuries are not believed serious.

A report of the Turner boys' accident moved Mayor Loran Jordan to suggest that council should take action to prevent further incidents of the kind.

DUNCAN—Parking fines for motor violations will increase to $100 per month.

The RCMP have notified the city they will cease collecting fines as soon as the city can have new parking tickets printed.

Mayor J. C. Wragg's comment on the move was that the city's costs are continually increasing and the police are relinquishing more duties.

The mayor said he would ask police to tag parking violators even if they do not collect the fines.

PARKSVILLE—Constable A. H. Bransett of the RCMP arrived here recently from Cloverdale to take over duties in the Parksville area with his trained tracking dog. He replaces Constable Ian E. Hall who was recently transferred to Cloverdale.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A quiet Halloween was experienced here according to RCMP and Fire Chief Oscar Thelin. Only minor incidents were reported. A few fences and parking signs were knocked over and some mail boxes torn from their moorings.

He stated that if the expected increase came about, Nanaimo could look for a 66 per cent increase.

Preparations for the expected increase in population should be made, he said. This would mean housing and active planning by community groups across Canada at the community level.

Of the chamber of commerce he said it was conceived in Winnipeg 30 years ago by a group of business men because they felt there were national

City Growing Fast

PORT ALBERNI—City works department is being taxed to the limit to keep with growth of the city.

Building permits representing $118,450 in construction for the city during October brings the total for the first 10 months of the year to $1,781,165.

When three men each engaged in building houses in a new subdivision at the north end of the city appeared before council this week appealing for drainage ditches and sewers to serve their property, the story of work "snow-balling" for the works crew was told by Superintendent Leonard Crowsshaw.

Ald. Jack Perry, chairman of the works committee, suggested hiring additional crew members but was told that it is not a question of manpower but of machinery.

The city owns only two shovels making it difficult to attend to all the demands for drainage ditches as new basements are being dug.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A log at Carley & Trotter Logging Company operations on Sonora Island, Laurie Bouchard, 18, was

Help Sought

NANAIMO (CP)—Mayor George Muir is seeking the help of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to "hurdle our difficulties back in Ottawa" about extension of the federal wharf here.

Mr. Muir made the request to J. G. Crean, president of the chamber, at a local meeting Monday.

"We have been stymied in Nanaimo and also on the west coast in our outlet of trade."

The mayor told Mr. Crean "we have been fighting for an assembly wharf for years."

DUNCAN—A waterworks extension by-law will be voted on Nov. 15, when approval of the ratepayers will be sought for the proposed $80,000 expansion program designed to replace many of the old and worn-out pipes which the city inherited in 1912.

The by-law was to have been voted on Nov. 8, but certain changes were made in the scheme by the department of municipal affairs. These changes required that the by-law be passed again by council, 10 days before the by-law can be voted on.

Mayor J. C. Wragg said that when the city took over the old wood pipe system in 1912 there were 900 customers. Today the city's system serves 1,500 customers.

NANAIMO—Acting Mayor Bill McGregor pushed forward action this week on a project he hopes will provide Nanaimo with a major playing field by next spring.

Nanaimo Council Gets Sewer Plan

NANAIMO—An outline of the study aimed at blue-printing a full-fledged sewer program for Nanaimo was given to city council this week by Ald. R. E. Fawdry, chairman of the streets and sewer committee.

Vancouver engineer A. G. Graham, a former city employee, has been working on the problem for more than a year. Field work has been completed and a contour map has been prepared for use in laying out a storm sewer system in the Brechin area.

An accurate estimate of the costs is impossible at this stage, but it is estimated a treatment plant and the first stage of the sewage collection system will cost about $1,500,000.

Negotiations have started for sufficient property for a treatment plant on the waterfront. The committee's report states in part, "it is our hope that priority will be given to these services for until sewers and sanitary facilities are not possible to begin our much-needed program of permanent street paving in the northern half of the city."

Chamber Head Sees Big Nanaimo Growth

NANAIMO—A 66 per cent increase in population has been forecast for Nanaimo by 1975, Canadian Chamber of Commerce president J. G. Crean made the forecast to Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce at a special chamber meeting in his honor here.

Mr. Crean said the present population of Canada was 17,500,000 and the Canadian chamber, he said, hoped this would be increased to 30,000,000 by 1975.

He stated that if the expected increase came about, Nanaimo could look for a 66 per cent increase.

Preparations for the expected increase in population should be made, he said. This would mean housing and active planning by community groups across Canada at the community level.

Of the chamber of commerce he said it was conceived in Winnipeg 30 years ago by a group of business men because they felt there were national problems. Now the Canadian chamber "is a base for more than 700 chambers of commerce groups and boards of trade."

Space Needed Alderman Says

NANAIMO—Ald. Bob Fawdry has recommended early action on the acquisition of land that the city will need for development. He said the proposed widening of Nicol and Union streets would require the purchase of property on Victoria crescent, including the Crescent Hotel, Scotch Bakery and Premium Cleaners.

A deal for the purchase of the hotel from Elmer and Ethel Bradshaw has already been concluded subject to the approval of the provincial government. The deal is for $3,000 cash, plus the exchange of two city-owned lots bounded by the junction of Terminal Avenue and Fraser and Wentworth streets.

Ald. Fawdry urged that negotiations with the owners of the bakery and cleaners be carried out as soon as possible.

"The city will have to buy it ultimately and we should acquire it before any more money is spent on it," he said.

Bringing Up Baby

With Collected by The New Yorker (Mother of 5)

Even the best-natured babies suffer out-of-control spells from time to time, for no apparent reason. A few "tried and true" ways to switch baby from crankiness to good humor:

• A short social session in a room other than his own usually works wonders.

• A spot of soft radio music will often lull a baby into sweet tranquility.

• A bit of play exercise often helps baby exchange whimpers for gurgles of glee.

• A playful splash in a tepid bath usually inspires smiles.

Growing babies need "growing tools" to help Mother Nature do her best. Important "growing tools" are complete proteins... best-known source is meat. Gerber Strained Meats are specially prepared to remove nearly all the fat and fiber for extra-easy digestibility. Made of selected cuts, they're cooked with gentle care to preserve natural true meat flavors and a high proportion of nutritional food values. All 6 varieties are 100% meat, with just enough broth for the smooth texture that feels pleasant on baby's tongue, so easy on baby's delicate digestive tract.

Left or right? Easy to determine which hand your baby is handiest with. Offer objects to baby at his middle-most point. Natural grasping instinct will soon show which hand will take the lead.

For a good source of vitamin A and blood-building iron, you'll want to try Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. A delicate, fresh-egg flavor coupled with a creamy-smooth, custard-like texture make Gerber Egg Yolks ideal for the crib set. Serve by the spoonful—mix with cereal, vegetables or milk. Gerber-Olive Baby Foods Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

New Negotiations with CPR

Province Wants Forbidden Plateau To Incorporate in Strathcona Park

The provincial government will make a new attempt to acquire Forbidden Plateau from the CPR for incorporation into Strathcona park as a provincial recreation area.

The region, about 16 miles west of Courtenay is part of the E & N land grant.

Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers said yesterday he was "reopening an issue which has been sporadic over a period of years."

"We think it would make an excellent park," the minister said. "We are taking another good look at it."

Another official described the new negotiations as "exploratory." The parks and recreation division of the B.C. Forest Service recommended acquisition of Forbidden Plateau in 1951 but nothing came of negotiations.

As early as 1910 attempts were made to add the plateau to the provincial parks system but negotiations then were unsuccessful. The plateau, actually full of lakes, valleys and high mountain peaks, covers about 100 square miles.

Officials say Forbidden Plateau is one of the outstanding recreational areas on Vancouver Island, featuring deep snow and good skiing in the winter. Only one part is really plateau land. The rest is mountainous. Two of the peaks, Mount Jutland and Mount Albert Edward, are more than 6,000 feet.

Officials say roads and trails could be built into the interior lake area at not too great expense. A government-owned plateau is the centre point of a series of trails leading in the same way as Manning and Mount St. Helens park on the Hope-Princeton canal area.

A brief memorial service was held yesterday morning in St. Paul's church in memory of the first Canadian casualties of the First World War.

On Nov. 1, 1914, Midshipmen Row J. A. Roberts conducted the service and Captain John W. Macdonald of HMCS Venture and Captain J. C. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in HMS Good Hope at the Royal Roads, paid a wreath.

Auxiliary Gives $40,000 To Royal Jubilee Hospital

The Junior Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital consists of 109 women who over the past five years, have contributed over $40,000 to the hospital. Their voluntary work is constant throughout the year and consists not only of raising money for the hospital but also visiting patients both in and out of hospital transporting them to and from the hospital.

daily of the two Victoria news papers are given to the patients in the wards.

The hospital bone bank was provided with a deep-freeze unit; the operating room was given a Bowie electro surgical unit; an oxygen tent given to the hospital a small sitting room on the fourth floor furnished as well as the waiting room in the physiotherapy department, and 160 stainless steel food covers were presented to the hospital.

The sum of $40,000 has given to the hospital such things as two operating tables at $1,000 each, an X-ray table and spot filing device, new rotating anode tube and cables at a cost of $3,748; refurnishing a doctors' consulting room, installing two kitchens in the Nurses Home in addition to completely redecorating and refurnishing the main floor of the Nurses Home (the latter at a cost of $1,000). Two sitting rooms in the Nurses Home were "done over" and the gay color schemes are attractive.

Miss Brenda Turner will open the annual bazaar of the Junior Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to be held in the Nurses Home, Wednesday, Nov. 9. The bazaar is one of the chief projects of the auxiliary for which the members work the year round making the many attractive articles sold.

The observation ward opened in 1941 was completely decorated and furnished by the auxiliary at a cost of $3,000. The patients now enjoy

MOBILE CANTEN

The Mobile Canteen — "little shop on wheels" — brings small articles of every description, ready-made books, cigarettes, stationery gifts to the bedside of patients. The Mobile Canteen carries the entire hospital home weekly. Few patients have failed to take advantage of this service and the Auxiliary members in their home canteens are regular fixtures in the wards. This work provides the Auxiliary with a regular monthly income which in turn provides the hospital with much-needed equipment and comforts for both staff and patients.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and relieve the pain. Thousands have been relieved without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, some amazing improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual retraction of hemorrhoid, shrinking, took place.

And most amazing of all, this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of nine months.

In 100 per cent of cases, the hemorrhoids were so thoroughly shrunk that they were no longer a source of trouble.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

Question—How can I eliminate whiteheads?

Answer—Whiteheads are difficult to dislodge and it often takes repeated efforts to clear them up. I suggest you cleanse your face thoroughly. Next, place a warm face cloth to the affected area for a few minutes, and then cover with a good lubricating cream. Move fingers in little circles leaving cream on face for about fifteen minutes. This massage will help promote circulation and soften the skin area. Wipe off excess cream and cover fingertips with clean tissue. Stretch skin and do not press it to remove the whitehead. When you finish, close pores with a good astringent. The repeated use of beauty grains might help clear up the problem, too. Follow directions for their use.

your delicately shaped face, the hair should be pulled back and away at the sides. A soft fluff at the forehead might be pretty, but one thing watch carefully do not exaggerate the size of the bun you wear whether it is your own hair or a wig.

There should be balance and not an overweight or heavy look to the head at the back when it is quite light at the chinline.

Leave out Oswald Jacoby, who happens to be an insurance actuary, and you can count the mathematical "wizards" among the contract bridge masters on one thumb. The fact is that it doesn't take a genius at geometry to count up to 13, and at bridge you never have a count any higher unless you are using point-count valuation on a pretty good hand. But you do have to keep on thinking as West did in his defense in today's deal.

The king of diamonds opening was won by declarer and a low heart led toward dummy's jack. West hopped in with the queen and cashed the queen of diamonds. It was tempting, and apparently "safe," but West gave thought to the bidding and to his partner's play of the deuce and then the seven of diamonds. Obviously, East led the missing ten of diamonds, else he had given a high low signal. So South would trump the next diamond lead—and from his bidding it was hardly likely that trumps could embarrass his long heart suit. West therefore abandoned the

Bond Sales Fall

By 20 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales of Canada Savings Bonds are falling behind last year, the Bank of Canada reported yesterday.

The six week sales drive has reached the half way mark and purchases as of last Friday totalled $192,000,000, down 20 per cent from the half way mark last year.

Record sales for the entire campaign were reached in 1953 when a total of $200,000,000 worth of bonds were sold. The total dropped to $200,000,000 last year and a further drop is expected this year.

Calgary Cattle

Good feeder steers 13-17, good stock steers 15.50-17, common to medium 10-14.50, good stock steer calves 16-17.50 with odd sales to 18.

Not sufficient year calves sold early to establish quotations. Good butcherweight feeder calves 20-25 pounds 13.50-14.50.

Hogs steady Monday, 30.75 A grade; 10.75-11 (heavyweight); good lambs 13-14.25 with odd sales to 15.50.

Persistent Townsend Angered Family

LONDON (UP) — A broken heart beats a lot quicker when you are a princess.

So in a month or so the friends of Princess Margaret expect to see her back in her old haunts in the West End night club belt, sipping champagne, puffing American cigarettes through a long holder and

The Royal Family fears an attempt may be made to portray the Princess Margaret as a martyr by those observers who guessed wrong on the affair and are looking for some one to blame for their own wicked guessing.

The angle may be that she was forced by her "wicked family" to renounce the love of her life. But the source said this is definitely not the case. The major friction has not been over the marriage itself but over her inability to make up her mind.

Everyday that she permitted the affair to drag on brought forth another deluge of comment. The Queen, the Queen Mother and the Duke of Edinburgh were furious that the princess should be involved in

BOMBARDING PRINCESS

But at that very moment Townsend was reported bombarding the Princess with messages and telephone calls and finally she agreed to see him when his leave came due.

Prince Philip was angry at what he regarded as duplicity and his anger communicated itself to the rest of the Royal family, including the Duke of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent. Townsend had not a single Royal ally.

In explaining the will-shewon't-be-ladies of the Princess during the past few days her friends recalled that she is intensely dramatic and has a definite flair for the theatre. They said she was not entirely displeased at the world-wide excitement she stirred up.

Something prophetic is seen by Londoners in this gesture of Princess Margaret waving what could be a good-bye from her limousine. It is expected she may leave Britain for a trip to a distant land now that the romance is ended.—(Central Press Canadian)

Prince George Jail

Maltreatment Charge Denied

Complaints by 21 Prince George jail guards that prison staff was now undergoing maltreatment charges in jail were being investigated by the Victoria Art Gallery.

He said accusations levelled at Warden William Tremblay were being investigated by the new staff was not unusual with jail routine.

He said a full investigation had been made by Ernest Stevens, provincial inspector of jails, and he was satisfied that the charges were completely without foundation.

Margaret Not Influenced By Government Eden Says

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Eden today told parliament that the government did not influence Princess Margaret in her decision to marry Group Captain Peter Townsend.

The government was neither asked nor did it offer advice, he said during a debate in which 11 Col. Maurice Lipton, a Labour MP, attacked the ancient Royal Marriage Act as a "weapon of control and a tool of the 'personal' class."

Margaret remained in seclusion at Clarence House with Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Townsend stayed away from London at a friends' country estate in Sussex. He sent word to reporters that all he wants now is a little bit of peace and quiet.

The divorced war hero, he will be 41 this month, is to return Monday to Brussels where he is an attaché. His future became a matter of speculation there after reports he might resign from the Royal Air Force and take a job with a commercial firm.

TV Talk
By ROY PARRETT
The idea of a new radio station KIRO in Seattle will get the last remaining channel 7 devoted to that city. Many people also believe that KIRO-TV will carry CBS programming as a matter of course.
Neither of these developments is a certainty.
Three Seattle radio stations have earned on a prolonged legal battle to get the channel. As yet none of them has won.

York Minister Memorial Unveiled by Edinburgh

YORK, England (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh unveiled Tuesday a thanksgiving memorial commemorating more than 18,000 airmen, including 5,772 Canadians, who lost their lives in the Second World War while operating in the area.

"The men remembered here flew from airfields in this neighborhood, but they came from homes in many parts of the world," the Duke said.

A congregation of more than 1,000 watched in reverent silence throughout the ceremony. The memorial, erected in a chantry in the north transept of the cathedral, takes the form of an astronomical clock, showing the phases of the moon and the solstice and equinox. The signs of the zodiac, the elaborate monumental framework enshrining the clock is of solid wrought iron, polished so that it may darken with the years.

In a signal tribute to the war-time service and sacrifice of the thousands of Canadians who served in the area, the honor of carrying and presenting the book of remembrance was given to Wing Commander H. B. Hay of Edmonton, N. B.

The 35-pound book of remembrance is placed on a lectern beneath the clock. Inscribed on its cover are the names of Australian, Canadian, New Zealand, South African, United Kingdom, Norwegian, French, Polish, Belgian, Dutch, Czechoslovak, Indian and Danish airmen.

Canada was well represented in packed York Minister whose twin towers served as a familiar landmark to the men of No. 6 RCAF Bomber Group and other fliers operating in the area.

"The men remembered here flew from airfields in this neighborhood, but they came from homes in many parts of the world," the Duke said.

NEW ANTISEPTIC DEODORANT
safely stops perspiration 1 to 3 days

Clinical tests prove that ARRID, now with Perstop, is 1 1/2 times as effective as other leading deodorants. Arrid's antiseptic protection keeps underarms dry and odourless.

1. Safely stops perspiration and odour.
2. Will not irritate normal skin.
3. Protects clothes from stains and clinging odours.
4. Soft, gentle vanishing cream. Never dries out.
5. Easy to use! Rub Arrid in, rub perspiration and odour out.

Rare Canadians use Arrid. More than any other deodorant.

Famed String Quartet Here for First Time

The internationally-known Amadeus Quartet, currently on its third tour of North America, will be seen and heard in Victoria for the first time tonight.

Sponsored by the women's committee of Victoria Symphony Society and the Art Gallery, the quartet will present a concert in the Victoria high school auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

An excellent program consists of the Mozart quartet in B-flat, K458; Bartok's quartet No. 4, and Schubert's quartet, "Death and the Maiden."

Although the Amadeus' home is London, only one member is an Englishman, cellist Martin Lovett. The others are Austrians, violinists Norbert Brainin and Siegmund Nissel and violist Peter Schidlof, who met Lovett in an English factory during the Second World War.

The four began appearances in 1948, and have already taken part in many world music festivals, including one at Edinburgh. Each member is 32 years of age.

Several officials of the Friends of Music organization of Vancouver are coming to Victoria for the concert. Ticket sales will continue at Eaton's box office until 1 p.m. today, then will be made at the door in the evening.

Jack Beasall Gives Address

VIEW ROYAL—Jack Beasall spoke to the recent meeting of the View Royal Garden Club on "fall work in the gardens."

Further meetings of the garden club will be held on the third Wednesday of each month, instead of the third Friday. The change of night was made at the request of the community association, so that square dancing for teenagers can be held Friday evenings.

Indians' Condition 'Terrible'—Wicks

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks has asked the Indian Advisory Committee to recommend to the government measures for improving "deplorable" living conditions of Indians at Burns Lake and Pendleton Bay.

The minister addressed the provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs yesterday at the opening of its annual three-day meeting here.

He told the committee its efforts had not gone unnoticed by the public, and that its work had resulted in the solving of a number of important problems.

Mr. Wicks drew a contrast between conditions at Burns Lake and Pendleton Bay and those of Kitimat and those of Pendleton Lake. He said the Kitimat Indians had electric light, running water and other conveniences and that the Burns Lake and Pendleton Bay Indians were attending public school.

He said that on October 5 inquiry into conditions at Burns Lake and Pendleton Bay disclosed that the Indians there were living under "terrible conditions."

Representations were made at the inquiry by clergy, teachers, PTAs, and other bodies, and the inquiry was organized by Omineca MLA Cyril Sheford and the Board of Trade.

Mr. Wicks asked the committee to consider "quite thoroughly" the representations made at the inquiry and to make recommendations to the government with the hope that conditions presently existing at Burns Lake and Pendleton Bay might be "changed."

Several officials of the Friends of Music organization of Vancouver are coming to Victoria for the concert. Ticket sales will continue at Eaton's box office until 1 p.m. today, then will be made at the door in the evening.

Marooned in Rockies

Snow Storm Traps Scores of Hunters

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. (UP)—High drifts and blinding snow yesterday thwarted attempts to rescue scores—possibly hundreds—of hunters marooned in the Rocky Mountains south of here.

A huge bulldozer which started to plow into the elk hunting area of the Gravelly mountains in the Tobacco Root range inched ahead slowly. But shifting drifts which piled across the road like sand dunes doubled its work.

Meanwhile, a storm that buffeted the mountains since Saturday afternoon grew more severe by the hour at lower elevations and its effect in the high mountain ranges could only be guessed.

Roy Kilton, Alder, Mont., who operated the lone bulldozer chewing into the high snows reported he had made only a few miles progress.

Even if he does reach the hunters, it may take days to get to all of them. They are scattered for many miles along the high mountain region.

Sister Tells Court:

Father Beat Mother; Daughter Shot Him

BRANDON (CP)—The mother of a 13-year-old girl on trial for the slaying of her father, testified Tuesday that her husband told her he "could kill one with his bare hands if he wanted to."

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, 41, was testifying in the court of Queen's Bench trial of her daughter, Helen May Jackson. The slaying occurred at the family's farm near Wawanesa last Feb. 24.

Mrs. Jackson said she had been subjected to brutal treatment for two weeks preceding the slaying.

On the night of Feb. 24 her husband came home intoxicated.

"We were watching for him out the window that night, hoping that he would not come home drunk," she said.

"But when I saw him come into the yard I knew he was drunk, or he would have had the zipper on his windbreaker done up as it was very cold."

She said her husband began arguing as soon as he entered the house.

"He hit me and knocked me down. He was on top of me. I was trying to get up but he kept on and I couldn't. I tried to tell him I didn't have to take that, that there was a law to help me. He got up and then he just fell down. Then I saw Helen in the kitchen with a gun."

Eleven-year-old Patricia Jackson said she saw her parents fighting and her sister come into the room with a gun.

"She shot dad," the youngest said.

The trial is continuing.

Big Plane Torn to Pieces

U.S. Airliner Explodes Like Skyrocket Carries All 44 Aboard to Deaths

'I Tried To Help But All Were Dead'

(One of the 44 witnesses to the crash was Conrad Hopp, Jr., 17, a farmer who lives immediately adjacent to the field where the crash occurred. This is his account of what occurred.)

BY CONRAD HOPP, JR.

LONGMONT, Colo. (UP)—The first thing I heard was a big explosion. It sounded like a bomb.

I ran out of the house and saw a big ball of fire and thought it was going to land behind my cattle corral.

I called back into the house and told my wife to call the police and ambulances. About that time I heard another explosion. The plane was still up in the air about half a mile away. It was on fire.

CALLED POLICE

I ran in—my wife was talking on the phone and she was getting awful nervous. I asked her to let me use the phone. So I got the ambulance and the police lined up and told them where to come and about that time my son (Conrad Dale, 18) came in and told me parts of the plane were in the field right behind my cattle corral.

I went out with my two oldest boys in the truck and drove around the ploughed field and found several bodies.

They weren't mangled at all. I went on over then with the fire department and by that time the ambulances had arrived. I took the truck and drove over there to show them the bodies. Then we began to find those that were mangled.

Horrible

I've never seen anything like this before. It was horrible.

We found the body of a woman in a strawstack with her shoes sticking out. She didn't have any clothes on.

We found one small child who appeared about 14 years old.

I don't think they had a prayer of a chance.

I just drove around the field trying to find someone who needed help, but everyone I came to was dead.

Call for Unity

East German Offer Thought Propaganda

GENEVA (AP)—An East German delegation proposed to the Big Four foreign ministers Tuesday that talks between East and West Germany be held soon to prepare for free elections to unify a neutralized Germany.

Western diplomats viewed the proposal, backed by the Soviet Union, as nothing more than a new propaganda bid.

This view was reinforced by reports from a special briefing given by a Soviet spokesman who said "there will be no German reunification" at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

The East German proposal was filed by its observer delegation with their conference secretariat while the foreign ministers took a one-day recess. It appeared aimed at influencing German national opinion, and Western quarters said that, as it stands, it is certain to be rejected.

The full text of the 24-page proposal is not to be released until today but, in substance, it calls for bringing East and West German parliamentary representatives together, ignoring the Bonn government's adamant refusal to talk to its Communist rivals.

Children Given 45 Years For Killings

PASCO, Wash. (UP)—Richard D. Petersen, 17, was sentenced Tuesday to not more than 45 years in the state penitentiary for the fatal shooting of his father and a policeman here, April 1.

The youth was sentenced to 45 years for the slaying of Patrolman Alva Jackson and 20 years for the death of his father, Peter H. Petersen, both sentences to run concurrently.

Children's party at Eridge Castle in Sussex.

"I shall be staying in Sussex at least until Friday," Townsend told reporters. "After that I'm not certain, but I shall be returning very shortly to Brussels."

He denied rumors that he might quit his air attaché's post in the Belgian capital from which he is on leave ending next Monday.

The London Daily Mail said it understood that Townsend's "lips will remain sealed" about Margaret and he "will never accept any of the big offers reported to have been made from America for his life story."

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, a divorced man himself, yesterday sidestepped

growing controversy over Margaret's choice of duty over love for the airman by saying the government was considering alterations to the royal marriage law.

The Princess herself, in seclusion, was reported considering a trip, possibly to the United States, next year. She already has an invitation from Mayor Robert F. Wagner to visit New York.

To the question by M. P. Marcus Lipton asking whether the government intended to amend the act of 1772, Eden replied: "I have had this possibility very much in mind."

Eden's statement was taken as a vote

of confidence in Margaret's future matrimonial judgment.

Newspapers were as badly split over the petite Princess's choice as they were during her anguished days of indecision. The Manchester Guardian blithely referred to the fact that Eden, divorced, is a man "who appoints bishops and archbishops," who opposed the romance.

But whatever Margaret felt after her historic 115-word announcement was shielded by the walls of Clarence House, her residence.

A crowd of 500, many in tears, stood outside Clarence House.

Police Remove Millionaire

Grim-faced police carry the body of millionaire sportsman William Woodward, Jr., from his Oyster Bay, Long Island, estate, after he was shot to death early Sunday by his wife, Ann, who said she mistook him for a prowler.

Supports Wife's Story

Prowler Stalked Rich Estate Where Fatal Shot Was Fired

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (UP)—A prowler admitted Tuesday he stalked the William G. Woodward, Jr., estate with a loaded shotgun and broke into the family's property twice before Mrs. Woodward shot her millionaire sportsman husband to death, mistaking him for an intruder.

Paul Wirths, 22, a homeless German refugee, was arrested for illegal possession of the gun and then admitted that he had broken into several exclusive Oyster Bay homes, including that of the Woodwards.

Stuyvesant Pinnell, Nassau county detective chief, said Wirths supported Mrs. Ann Woodward's story that a prowler had broken into the Woodward's bathroom and garage.

Wirths said he invaded the Woodward grounds on both Wednesday and Friday nights. Woodward was shot to death early Sunday.

After questioning the man for four hours and 25 minutes, Pinnell took him to the Woodward estate "to account for us his movements on certain occasions."

Pinnell said there was no indication Wirths was there when the shooting took place.

FIRE AT NOISE

Mrs. Woodward, 39-year-old former Kansas farm girl, said she became so alarmed by a barking dog that she seized a loaded shotgun from a chair by her bed early Sunday, walked to a darkened hallway and fired in the direction of a noise.

The shot killed Woodward, 35, as he walked naked toward the door of his bedroom across the hall from his wife's room.

Wirths told police Tuesday that on the occasions he prowled around the Woodward home, he never heard the family's French poodle, Sloppy, bark.

Pinnell told newsmen after three days of investigating the shooting that these still were "quite a few people to question who might tell us anything they know which would have led to violence or violent actions in this case."

He said he expected to question Mrs. William G. Woodward, 39, the dead man's mother, in this connection.

Wirths broke into a building adjoining the Woodward home, a swimming pool-cabana and the garage, Pinnell said.

"He always carried a loaded shotgun with him," Pinnell said. On the night Woodward was killed, Wirths said he broke into the caddyman's house on the 10th hole at the Pine Hollow Country Club about half a mile from the Woodward's house. He fled when police were called, he said.

Pinnell said the investigation of the Woodward tragedy had been "curtailed" by the assignment of a large number of Nassau county detectives to a search for a three-year-old boy who disappeared from in front of an East Meadow supermarket Monday.

CONDITION BETTER

Mrs. Woodward, blonde, blue-eyed former radio soap opera star, model and chorus girl, was reported in improved condition in Doctors' Hospital in New York City. She was taken there in a state of shock and hysteria Sunday a few hours after her husband was killed.

Woodward, 35-year-old owner of the great race horse, Nashua, was killed shortly after he and his wife returned home from a party for the Duchess of Windsor.

High society guests at the party were questioned by police and reported there had been no apparent trouble between the Woodwards during the evening. A maid said they seemed "lovely" to her.

LONGMONT, Colo. (CP)—A United Airlines DC-6B crashed on the Colorado flatlands Tuesday night killing all 44 persons aboard. As far as could be learned, there were no Canadians aboard.

A passenger-list issued by the airline originally listed two of the passengers as from Vancouver, B.C., but the airline later announced that the couple, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Herman, were from Vancouver, Wash.

However, the revised list still did not include the home addresses of all passengers.

SECOND IN AREA

It was the second United Airlines crash in the area within a month.

The DC-6B plane was demolished and witnesses said the largest piece was no larger than an automobile body.

"There was nothing left to be done except cover up the bodies," said one of the first persons on the scene.

On Oct. 6 a United Air Lines crash killed 66 persons in the worst commercial air line disaster in U.S. history. The plane smashed into Medicine Bow peak near Laramie, Wyo.

Tuesday night's crash was of flight 629, en route from Denver to Seattle. The plane left Denver at 6:52 p.m. MST and crashed about 13 minutes later 40 miles north of Denver.

There had been snow flurries during the day but the air had cleared at nightfall.

A United spokesman said the plane was flying on the normal course north to Cheyenne before heading west for a stop at Portland.

Jim Matlack, co-publisher of the Longmont Times-Call and one of the first on the scene, said "there was not a sign of life."

"It was a terrible wreckage—bodies were just scattered all over. It took me just a few minutes to count nine bodies."

Matlack said that a farmer, Jake Heil, on whose land the plane crashed, said there was "a sort of explosion."

Heil told Matlack: "We ran outside and it looked to us like a skyrocket. There was another explosion."

DID NOT BURN

Matlack said, however, that there was no indication that the plane had burned.

The flight had originated in New York at noon and had made a stop in Chicago before landing in Denver. It left Denver 22 minutes late, headed for Portland and Seattle.

Bob Robbins, a Loveland florist, said he was driving south toward Denver shortly before 7 p.m. when he saw a plane, then a blinding flash and a loud crash.

Bernie Fowler of the Longmont Times-Call, who talked with Robbins, said the plane continued to burn two hours after the crash.

Sgt. Bill Horaman of the Colorado patrol said he received word from the crash scene that "there just couldn't be any survivors. The wreckage is scattered over a wide area and the wreckage burned."

Coffin Case To Be Argued

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec is going to contest the legality of the federal government's action in the case of convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin, Solicitor-General Antoine Rivard said Tuesday.

Mr. Rivard said the province will "question the legality" of the federal government's order-in-council referring the case of the 44-year-old Gaspé prospector to the Supreme Court of Canada for a "recommendation."

Beyond Gaza Strip

Suicide Squad Trio Gunned to Death

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli Army spokesman said three Arab members of an Egyptian-trained suicide squad were killed Tuesday in an exchange of gunfire with an Israeli Army unit 19 miles east of the southern section of the Gaza strip.

He said the suicide squad was identified with a sabotage organization which Israel blamed for a number of border violations in August and September. He said the three men were wearing "dayeen"—suicide squad uniforms, carried Egyptian identification cards and were armed with Sten guns.

It was the latest of a series of Israeli charges. Earlier the spokesman said an Egyptian infantry platoon attacked an Israeli patrol in the Kismunin area east of Gaza Monday night but was repulsed.

Rats Plague Royal City

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Residents here have been warned by health committee chairman Alderman Maude Corrigan to protect their homes from rats.

She told city council all parts of the city are overrun with rats and said the situation would get worse if left unchecked.

A crowd of 500, many in tears, stood outside Clarence House.

Peter Townsend's 'Lips Will Remain Sealed'

LONDON, Wednesday (UP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend, who lost out to Princess Margaret's sense of duty, has tried bravely to give the impression that he was not upset.

Newsmen who finally managed to get a few words from the divorced war hero asked him whether he was upset.

He smiled broadly and said "Do I look like that?"

When asked about Margaret he replied, "Now! Now! I cannot answer—you cannot expect me to do that."

But he willingly and smilingly discussed other matters with newsmen as he left a children's party at Eridge Castle in Sussex. "I shall be staying in Sussex at least until Friday," Townsend told reporters. "After that I'm not certain, but I shall be returning very shortly to Brussels."

He denied rumors that he might quit his air attaché's post in the Belgian capital from which he is on leave ending next Monday.

But a forecaster remarked: "Wednesday will have to be there's another storm coming in from the Pacific coast."

The men went into the area at the opening of the special elk hunting season last Friday and Saturday, when Indian summer weather prevailed around Montana.

It is doubtful if they were prepared for the temperatures and snow they will have to face. A special forecast for the region said temperatures in the higher regions of the Gravelly range and around the Cherry lakes could get as low as 15 to 20 degrees below zero.

It was impossible to estimate the number of hunters in the area. No one could tell. Hundreds went into the area during the week-end. Some of them got out in time. Others have not yet been rescued.

BRANDON (CP)—The mother of a 19-year-old girl on trial for the slaying of her father, testified Tuesday that her husband told her he "could kill me with his bare hands if he wanted to."

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, 44, was testifying in the court of Queen's Bench trial of her daughter, Helen May Jackson. The slaying occurred at the family's farm near Wawanesa last Feb. 24.

Mrs. Jackson said she had been subjected to brutal treatment for two weeks preceding the slaying.

On the night of Feb. 24 her husband came home intoxicated.

"We were watching for him not the window that night, hoping that he would not come home drunk," she said. "But when I saw him come into the yard I knew he was drunk, or he would have had the zipper on his windbreaker done up as it was very cold."

She said her husband began arguing as soon as he entered the house.

"He hit me and knocked me down. He was on top of me. I was trying to get up but he kept on and I couldn't. I tried to tell him I didn't have to take that, that there was a law to help me. He got up and then he just fell down. Then I saw Helen in the kitchen door with a gun."

Eleven-year-old Patricia Jackson said she saw her parents fighting and her sister come into the room with a gun.

"She shot dad," the youngest said.

The trial is continuing.

EXPLODING AIRLINER CARRIES 44 TO DEATH

'Tried To Help—All Were Dead'

(One of the eye-witnesses to the crash was Conrad Hopp, Jr., 47, a farmer who lives immediately adjacent to the field where the crash occurred. This is his account of what occurred.)

BY CONRAD HOPP, JR.

LONGMONT, Colo. (UP)—The first thing I heard was a big explosion. It sounded like a bomb.

I ran out of the house and saw a big ball of fire and thought it was going to land behind my cattle corral.

I called back into the house and told my wife to call the police and ambulances. About that time I heard another explosion. The plane was still up in the air about half mile away. It was on fire.

CALLED POLICE

I ran in—my wife was talking on the phone and she was getting awful nervous. I asked her to let me use the phone. So I got the ambulance and the police lined up and told them where to come and about that time my son (Conrad Dale, 18) came in and told me parts of the plane were in the field right behind my cattle corral.

I went out with my two oldest boys in the truck and drove around the ploughed field and found several bodies.

They weren't mangled at all. I went on over then with the fire department and by that time the ambulances had arrived. I took the truck and drove over there to show them the bodies. Then we began to find those that were mangled.

HORRIBLE

I've never seen anything like this before. It was horrible. We found the body of a woman in a strawstack with her shoes sticking out. She didn't have any clothes on.

We found one small child who appeared about 14 years old.

I don't think they had a prayer of a chance.

I just drove around the field trying to find someone who needed help, but everyone I came to was dead.

Police Remove Millionaire

Grim-faced police carry the body of millionaire sportsman William Woodward, Jr., from his Oyster Bay, Long Island, estate, after he was shot to death early Sunday by his wife, Ann, who said she mistook him for a prowler.

Supports Wife's Story

Prowler Stalked Rich Estate Where Fatal Shot Was Fired

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (UP)—A prowler admitted Tuesday he stalked the William G. Woodward, Jr., estate with a loaded shotgun and broke into the family's property twice before Mrs. Woodward shot her millionaire sportsman husband to death, mistaking him for an intruder.

Paul Wirths, 22, a homeless German refugee, was arrested for illegal possession of the gun and then admitted that he had broken into several exclusive Oyster Bay homes, including that of the Woodwards.

Stuyvesant Pinnell, Nassau county detective chief, said Wirths supported Mrs. Ann Woodward's story that a prowler had broken into the Woodward boathouse and garage.

Wirths said he invaded the Woodward grounds on both Wednesday and Friday nights. Woodward was shot to death early Sunday.

After questioning the man for four hours and 25 minutes, Pinnell took him to the Woodward estate "to account for his movements on certain occasions." After visiting the property, Pinnell said there was no indication Wirths was there when the shooting took place.

FIRED AT NOISE

Mrs. Woodward, 39-year-old former Kansas farm girl, said she became so alarmed by a barking dog that she seized a loaded shotgun from a chair by her bed early Sunday, walked to a darkened hallway and fired in the direction of a noise.

The shot killed Woodward, 35, as he walked naked toward the door of his bedroom across the hall from his wife's room.

LONGMONT, Colo. (CP)—A United Airlines DC-6B crashed on the Colorado flatlands Tuesday night killing all 44 persons aboard. As far as could be learned, there were no Canadians aboard.

A passenger list issued by the airline originally listed two of the passengers as from Vancouver, B.C., but the airline later announced that the couple, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Herman, were from Vancouver, Wash.

However, the revised list still did not include the home addresses of all passengers.

SECOND IN AREA

It was the second United Air Lines crash in the area within a month.

The DC-6B plane was demolished and witnesses said the largest piece was no larger than an automobile body.

"There was nothing left to be done except cover up the bodies," said one of the first persons on the scene.

On Oct. 6 a United Air Lines crash killed 66 persons in the worst commercial air line disaster in U.S. history. The plane smashed into Medicine Bow peak near Laramie, Wyo.

Tuesday night's crash was of flight 629, en route from Denver to Seattle. The plane left Denver at 8:32 p.m. MST and crashed about 13 minutes later 40 miles north of Denver.

There had been snow flurries during the day but the air had cleared at nightfall.

A United spokesman said the plane was flying on the normal course north to Cheyenne before heading west for a stop at Portland.

Jim Matlack, copublisher of the Longmont Times-Call and one of the first on the scene, said "there was not a sign of life."

"It was a terrible wreckage—bodies were just scattered all over. It took me just a few minutes to count nine bodies."

Matlack said that a farmer, Jake Heil, on whose land the plane crashed, said there was "a sort of explosion."

Heil told Matlack: "We ran outside and it looked to us like a skyrocket. There was another explosion."

DID NOT BURN

Matlack said, however, that there was no indication that the plane had burned.

The flight had originated in New York at noon and had made a stop in Chicago before landing in Denver. It left Denver 22 minutes late, headed for Portland and Seattle.

Bob Robbins, a Loveland florist, said he was driving south toward Denver shortly before 7 p.m. when he saw a plane, then a blinding flash and a loud crash.

Bernie Fowler of the Longmont Times-Call, who talked with Robbins, said the plane continued to burn two hours after the crash.

Sgt. Bill Horsman of the Colorado patrol said he received word from the crash scene that "there just couldn't be any survivors. The wreckage is scattered over a wide area and the wreckage burned."

As the midnight deadline for the strike neared, the government issued a communique banning public meetings without police permit and guaranteeing the right to work.

The labor confederation, one of the bulwarks of ex-president Juan Peron's power, decided to call off the strike following a meeting of confederation leaders with representatives of member trade unions.

The meeting was held soon after a countrywide broadcast by Labor Minister Cerruti Costa, which did not mention the strike by name, but made it clear Lonardi's regime was taking up the confederation challenge.

High society guests at the party were questioned by police and reported there had been no search for a three-year-old boy who disappeared from in front of the Woodwards during the evening. A maid said they seemed "lovely" to her.

Woodward, 35-year-old owner of the great race horse, Nashua, was killed shortly after he and his wife returned home from a party for the Duchess of Windsor.

Eden's statement was taken as a vote of confidence in Margaret's future matrimonial judgment.

Newspapers were as badly split over the petite Princess' choice as they were during her anguished days of indecision. The Manchester Guardian, bitingly referred to the fact that Eden, divorced, is a man "who appoints bishops and archbishops," who opposed the romance.

But whatever Margaret felt after her historic 115-word announcement was shielded by the walls of Clarence House, her residence.

A crowd of 500, many in tears, stood outside Clarence House.

Argentine Strike Banned

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentina's powerful General Confederation of Labor Tuesday night bowed before the six-week-old government of President Eduardo Lonardi and called off its threatened general strike.
